

Know Your People

People are the core of any business and this is part of your unique offering to your clients. The problem is, it's hard to know what expertise and experience your people have.

Current solutions require you to collect this data by getting staff to fill in forms, surveys, or by conducting lengthy interviews. This is time consuming and the data collected is often incomplete and out of date.

You already have great data

People leave a digital footprint in CVs, proposal docs, working papers and research. Stitched uses machine learning and natural language processing to automatically build a skills repository and intelligence hub for your workforce.

This is constantly learning and always up to date.

Search Smarter

We'll automatically search for related and complementary skills so you don't miss anyone. Stitched doesn't just find keywords, we understand people's experience and capability, so when you find someone using Search, you know they're relevant.

Uncover the hidden capability in your workforce using Stitched's fast, intelligent, intuitive Search.

Insanely Fast Install

Stitched is installed in just two days, and requires only three points of contact with your team.

Collect data from existing sources

We produce data report & consult with you

We send you logins, you start searching

Day 1
Scan documents, ingest data

Day 2
Clean data, train algorithms